

Take advantage of being at a Research University!

Research Match

Your one stop for research opportunities

Sign up at Research-Match.unm.edu to find research opportunities offered by UNM faculty members.

*Research activities contribute to your personal growth, academic development, professional relationships, and career outcomes.

Students

This research matching system helps you find opportunities to work with researchers at UNM. The system will match you to research projects based on your interests.

Step 1: Sign up at Research-Match.unm.edu and create a profile.

Step 2: The system will match your research interests to available research opportunities.

Step 3: The system will send you an email when your profile has been matched to a project.

You may be asked to contact hiring researchers. If not, the researchers will contact you if they are interested in hiring you.

Step 4: Start your research career!!